*New Board Member

We Need NEW Members!

New member Jolene Burke gets her Kiwanis pin, above, and Chris Kerner left, a fairly new member himself, has already received two pins for recruiting two new members!

(The following message is from Hugh Siggins.)

As chairman of the Membership Committee, I am asking for your help.

We need to increase the membership in the Kiwanis Club of Williamsburg, and we can do it if you will do the following: Look at the people you know and invite someone to attend our luncheon. When you fill out the guest form, note that they are a prospective member, the Club will pay for the lunch. Make sure you have included their telephone number and e-mail, and someone from the Committee will contact them.

Again, all you have to do is get them to the meeting. May is membership month, and together we can make it a success. Thank you for your help.

Kiwanis is a global organization of volunteers dedicated to changing the world one child and one community at a time.

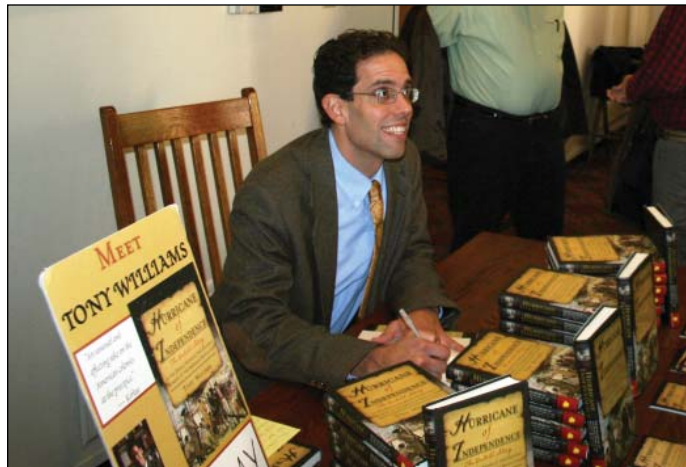

Today's Meeting: Tony Williams

Tony Williams was reared in Hackensack, N.J. He earned his bachelor of arts degree in history at Syracuse University, and a masters in American history from Ohio State University. He taught history and literature at private schools for 10 years in Ohio and Virginia.

He retired from teaching a few years ago to become a full-time writer of narrative non-fiction. His first book, "The Hurricane of Independence," was published by Sourcebooks in August, 2008. "I tried to write the great kind of story that I myself enjoyed reading," Williams says. "I found a very exciting topic about which almost no one has ever heard."

He lectures frequently to a variety of audiences, including civic groups, churches, colleges, and teacher conferences. His lecture style focuses on the dramatic story-telling that moved his students and now, he hopes, moves his readers.

Williams is a resident of Williamsburg, which he calls "one of the great centers of history in our great country." He was recently a research fellow at the Colonial Williamsburg Rockefeller Library where he completed the research and writing of the "Hurricane of Independence."

"Blue Elephant Affair" May 8 Is CASA's Signature Event

Colonial CASA's signature event, A Blue Elephant Affair, will take place on Saturday evening, May 8. The Blue Elephant is a wonderful, casual evening of shopping from a myriad of items for home décor, infants and children's items, outdoor and sporting goods and furniture as well as the unique Blue Chip section which is full of some incredible finds. This is not a silent auction.

It is a tag sale so be there early for the best deals!

The food will be phenomenal and is being catered by Harris Teeter. Squires Everyday Gourmet will be providing some very interesting wines.

Tickets are $25 and can be obtained from Tucker Edmonds or by calling the CASA office at 229-3306. Please come join us Saturday night at Trinkle Hall to help support the littlest victims of abuse and neglect in the Historic Triangle.
